Miss Bacon's Historical Lessons. The Introductory Lesson of Miss Bacon's course of Historical Instruction will be given at the Stuyvensot Institute on TUESDAY EVENING, Nov. 30, at 8 o'clock. Miss BACON wishes to present what is new in her plan and its objects to those who are best qualified to judge beforehand of its merits, and to all who have any personal interest in ascertaining definitely what is proposed in it. For this reason the tickets to the Introductory Lesson—which may serve as an introduction to the study of History in general—will admit gantlement atterding ladies. The gentlemen of the New-York Historical Society are especially and respectfully invited to honor this introductory statement with their attention.

But the subsequent lessons of the course will be given in the gorning, twice a week, at 11 o'clock. The course is di-the district corresponding to the natural divisions of the bulgict.

Three of tickets for a term including fifteen lessons, $5. for the Injuguetery Lesson, 50 cents. To be obtained at the book store of C. S. Francis & Co., and Evans & Brittan, at at the door.

We, the undersigned, beg leave to state that we have exemined the proposals for a Course of Historical Instruction return advertised by Miss. Bacen to the ladies of this city, and the evidence of its claims; and we are happy in this way a said our approval of it, to that of the eminent gentlemen a Beston who have already concurred in a public expression of opinion in regard to its merits. We believe that such a Course of instruction, commended by men so eminently marked, and we unbesitatingly recommend it to the ladies of this city, and opportunity for mental improvement well sorthy their attention.
